THE COLUMBIAN MIRROR AND ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.

Four Dollars per Ann.]

TUESDAY, MARCH 11, 1800.

[Vol. VII.—No. 1075]

100 CENTS.

Yesterday completed the first quarter since the MIRROR has been under the press, as of its present Editor.

The commencement of its former friends, and an increase of subscribers are highly flattering to him—but something more than good wishes is indispensably necessary. He knows from experience that there are many, who are painted to the hour, in the payment of a sum of consequence, that neglect for trifling a demand is that of a 100 Cents (the price of a quarter's subscription) which they would not do if they would consider that however small the sum is to them individually, yet in the aggregate, with the printer, it becomes a mar-ter of serious consequence—it being his chief resource, for the discharge of the various and heavy expenses he necessarily incurs; for the major part of which he could not reasonably expect credit, and in the article of paper alone (one of the most considerable items in his expense) a short credit is considered a favor.

Subscribers in town will be waited on with their respective Bills—gentlemen in the country will please to forward their quarters by mail or otherwise, for which he will return them a receipt.

The Columbian Mirror
AND
ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE

FROM RUSSELL'S COMMERCIAL GAZ.

COMMERCIALY IMPORTANT.

Mr. CUTLER,

I have sent you the enclosed extract of a letter from my friends in Hull, England, dated in December last; and as they contain the best exposition of the state of Commerce in the North of Europe, that I have seen, and may be of great service to the commercial interests of our country, they well deserve publication in your extensively useful Gazette.

Yours, &c.

W. W.

"The very great demand for West India produce in Germany, for these two or three last years, and the total incapability of the French supplying them, threw that trade almost exclusively into your hands and that of this country. The very heavy importation of 1798, and this great demand caused a late exportation from hence to the German markets, particularly Hamburg: from the levity of the winter, these shipments could not reach their destination until April, when the whole arriving at once, as well as many importations from the United States, reloaded the market, that the greatest stagnation took place there, and the consequence has been, that greater failures have happened, than perhaps ever at one time Europe experienced. These circumstances, together with the last abundant importation of SUGAR, hath caused this article to hang very heavy, and we cannot judge when there will be the least current for it.

"Of COFFEE, we have not the same opinion, because the last crop was not so good, and the importation greatly short, yet the want of money on the continent, where the consumption is the greatest, may cause the depression to continue for some time.

"TAR from Archangel hath this year been imported in larger quantities than usual, and consequently no greater prices can be expected, than last year, for which in some instances we obtained 30s. per barrel.

"TURPENTINE may render better, but we hear of a good deal expected, and although our market is extensive yet we cannot think your expectation should extend beyond the quotation annexed, although we know it is nominally higher in London.

"OAK TIMBER, is scarce, yet the impression that shipping property may fall from the giving way of the price of West India produce, may occasion the demand to be slack, PINE or FIR TIMBER, from the restriction of the exportation from Russia, is likely to support its present high price for some time, indeed, as the article of Lumber resolves itself to much into freight, it cannot well be a dangerous article to a person who is the owner of the ship in which it is imported.

"OF COTTON, our last opinion to you was fully justified for a time long enough for any opinion to have its original weight, it hath of late got down very much; the general effect of an unnatural and extravagant advance, and when it may revive we cannot predict, particularly after the late acquisition to this country, by the conquest of Surinam.

"TOBACCO, is a mere drug, the consequence of the continental stagnation and want of confidence there, and the overloaded market on this side.

"ASHES have also fallen much, the importation having exceeded the demand and the depression of the Cotton Manufacture hath caused the like in all the raw materials, used to bring it to its perfect state.

"DYE WOODS of all kinds have too similar an appearance to most other articles, we have mentioned, the market is over stocked, the demand small, prices have got considerably down, and are likely to get more so.

"From the cold and late Spring, the unkindly Summer, and the very wet and unreasonable harvest, perhaps we never resped a shorter crop, or got it in worse condition; this country will therefore need great supplies of grain, and by our advices from Poland, Danzig, &c. the price is so high in those parts, that wheat will stand at 20s. per quarter, to import from thence, this exorbitant price being little short of our own, can of course cause little depression; Wheat and Flour, therefore, are likely to be the most advantageous exports from your quarter, and all duty whatsoever is taken off by act of Parliament, until the 1st of Sept. 1800, this is the same with rice, and all other provisions.

"Should you be sending any of your ships to the Baltic for freight, we should recommend bringing a cargo to this port, from whence there are weekly convoys thither during the summer, and we should even recommend your giving the preference to this port, to any in Germany, for West India produce that may find its ultimate destination there, because the consequence of the late failures cannot yet be known, even with those that have hitherto been considered good houses in that country; here you have nothing to fear; for although the convulsion hath been, and still is great, yet we have no apprehension of its consequences."

To which is annexed the following Price Current:

NEW YORK, MARCH 4.

We mentioned yesterday, on the authority of a Boston paper, that prize taken by French cruizers, and carried into Spain were not any longer to be tried by the Consuls of the Republic in the Spanish dominions, but by the courts of France. The latter part of this intelligence is contradicted in the following Extract of a letter from Malaga, dated December 3d, received in this city.

"Last post an order came from Madrid, informing, that in consequence of the repeated remonstrances of the Ambassadors of all the neutral powers, and considering the establishment of French Consular Tribunals in the Spanish ports as an usurped right, never have been recognized by the court; his Catholic Majesty instructs the Captains Generals of the various districts, to take cognizance of all prizes sent by cruizers, of whatever nation they may be, into the ports of Spain, and the Consuls shall only treat as simple agents in the same."

COMMUNICATION.

As a general Stamp office is to be established in Philadelphia, how are the Merchants and others to get instruments stamped, who live at a distance from the seat of government, without risking the loss of such instruments by transportation, &c.? It is hoped Congress will provide against the inconveniences apprehended.

SACRILEGE.

On Sunday morning, the 2d inst. when the Reformed Protestant French Church in this city was opened for Divine Service, it was discovered that the black cloth, which shrouded the pulpit, as a token of mourning for the death of General Washington, was torn off, and stolen. A notice had been made to strip the covering from the founding board, but it was found too high to effect it. It is conjectured this sacrilegious act was committed at ten o'clock on the night preceding, as some persons who reside in the neighborhood declare they heard the church windows shut about that time with apparent violence, but attributed it to the wind. Traces of footsteps in the snow showed that the robber had passed thro' the church yard to one of the windows, out of which he had broken one pane of glass, that he might the more easily loosen the hook by which it was fastened to the inside. Steps of snow were distinctly traced within the church from the window to the pulpit, and even on the clothing, which had been trod on to reach the founding-board. We do not hear that the villain has yet been discovered, or that the trustees of the church have taken any measures to that end. We hope, however, that this will not long be the case; but that justice may speedily succeed public execration.

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 4.

NAVAL AFFAIRS.

Captain Russel, in the Herald sloop of war, has captured La Mutine, a French cruiser, of 6 guns and 51 men, which has arrived at the Vineyard.

The prisoners taken on board the Two Eagles, have arrived at Providence.

On the 28th Jan. the Constitution, of 44 guns, capt. Talbot, was spoken in the West India latitudes, all well. She was cruising for a French ship bound for the Havannah.

The principal part of the lucky Pickering's convoy has arrived. The Caroline, of New-Haven, was robbed by a French privateer, the day after leaving the convoy of 400 dollars, &c.

The British naval officers in the West Indies say, the d—l is in the United States ship builders, for furnishing swift-sailers. The captain of the Tanager told capt. Wheelwright the Adams frigate was the fastest sailing ship he ever knew.

House of Representatives.

A resolution to the following effect was this morning submitted to the house by Mr. Gallatin:

Resolved, that the president of the United States be requested to lay before this house, copies of the requisition for, and other papers relative to the demand made for the delivery of William Biglock, alias John Johnston; John Evans, alias Michael Campbell, and James Williams, alias James Williamson, persons charged with having aided and abetted in the piracy committed on board the British frigate Hermione, and who were tried for the same in a circuit court of the United States for the district of New-Jersey.

This motion occasioned considerable debate; which had not terminated when this paper was put to press.

MARCH 5.

In the House of Representatives

THIS MORNING, Mr. Christie called up for consideration the resolution laid on the table yesterday, by Mr. Gallatin, and after some observations in favor thereof by Mr. Davis, the question was taken by yeas and nays, when there appearing an equal division, the resolution was negatived by our casting vote of Mr. Speaker.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the Message of the President relative to the case of Jonathan Robbins; when Mr. Livingston's resolutions being under consideration, Mr. Bayard rose in opposition to them; and continued speaking when this paper was put to press.

BALTIMORE, MARCH 6.

A few days since arrived in this port, captain Thomas Burges, late of the schooner Weymouth, of Baltimore; belonging to Wm. B. Magruder, of this city.

Captain B. sailed from Cape Francois on the 11th November, and on the 18th was taken by the French privateer Hope, of Porto Rico, who plundered him of several articles; put nine men on board, and ordered them for Porto Rico. The prize-master being ignorant of navigation, the first land he made was cape Samana, east of St. Domingo, from which he ran down to Monte Christi; and finding his mistake, begged capt. B. to take charge of his vessel, and if he would put them ashore any where they would leave her to him. Captain Burges pretended to carry the vessel to fort Dauphin, but taking advantage of the ignorance of the Frenchman, sent her way for Cape Francois. When in sight of the Cape was taken by the Boston and General Greene United States ships of war.

These vessels took out 7 of the French men, and out two prize masters, and 6 men on board. The names of the prize masters were Samuel Doten and Joseph Wiles, both from the Boston. It appears that their orders were to carry the Weymouth into Boston; these orders were committed to the care of Doten, who kept himself to beally drunk all the time while on board, that he was incapable of executing his orders to Wiles, or any one else. The vessel proving very leaky, after passing Magnana, thought it most advisable to beat away for New Providence, made Cat-Island on the 15th Dec. and came to anchor; here Doten forgetting the honor and dignity of the United States, disgracing the character which as an officer he should support, and not mindful of the property of a fellow-citizen, who had been already distressed shamefully and disgracefully had the hatches of the Weymouth opened, and embezzled from the cargo eight bags of coffee, and seven and a half bags sugar, which he sent on shore, and disposed of for his own purposes;—it was in vain that I remonstrated against being thus plundered in my duties, by a fellow countryman; the only answer which I received, was, that captain Little had given him power to make himself full compensation for taking charge of the vessel.

When about leaving Cat-Island, Mr. Doten insisted on employing a pilot, at the expense of 50 dollars, out of the vessel, although I offered and assured him that I could navigate the schooner with safety to New Providence. We arrived there on the 20th December and there Mr. Doten's conduct was equally as ungraceful as at Cat-Island. These transactions I have made public, that it may come to the knowledge, and receive the investigation of proper authority.

THOMAS BURGESS.

BOSTON, FEBRUARY 26.

ENVOYS TO FRANCE.

Capt. Machet, arrived here since our last from Cadix, informs that letters had been received from Lisbon, acquainting of the late arrival of the Bonaparte at Cadix, in the frigate United States. The information was not doubted at Lisbon, tho' official accounts of it had not been received at the American Consulate where capt. Machet, Capt. M. left Cadix the 14 December; and we learn the United States had 28 days passage. From Lisbon to Paris about a thousand American miles.

Capt. Harding, from Emden, which he left December 17th, says reports were in circulation that a General Peace amongst all the continental powers was on the tapis when he sailed.

Capt. Rich, from Leghorn, which he left the 6th December, informs that the Austrians had invaded Genoa, and invited the citizen to surrender the town.

RICHMOND, MARCH 5.

A report is in circulation, that a violent bobby was lately kicked up in the honorable the privy council of state, upon the subject of attending the procession on the 22d ultimo. It is added that potent reasons (ad homine we suppose) were adduced to show the impropriety of the measure—but confidence at last took the lead, and the funeral honors of Washington, were granted with the presence of the right honorable the state executive.

We give the above only as a report and if it proves to be unfounded, shall take pleasure in contradicting it.

NORFOLK, MARCH 4.

On Friday morning last, a duel was fought at the Sycamores near this borough by a Capt. T. master of a brig now in the harbour, and Lieut. S. of the U.S. frigate Congress, in which the former was shot through the body. We are happy to find the wound has not proved mortal, and that there are favorable symptoms of a speedy recovery.

CHARLESTON, FEBRUARY 24.

Captain Woodward, who arrived on Tuesday last from Madeira, on the 6th February, spoke the sloop Hiram, captain Wilson, from New-York, with stores for the American Squadron in the West Indies; the Hiram on the 28th January, in a severe gale, had lost the whole of her deck load, and parted from her convoy, the United States brig Richmond, capt. Law.

Alexandria, March 11.

The United States frigate Congress, arrived in Hampton Roads on Monday, the 24th ultimo, after being totally dismasted in a gale of wind about eight weeks ago.
—She was bound to Batavia.

Letter from an Officer on board the United States frigate Congress, arrived at Norfolk, to his friend in this town, dated February 28, 1850.

"On the 6th of January we sailed from Newport (Rhode Island) in company with the Essex frigate and three merchant ships; the latter we parted with on the 8th, in consequence of their dull sailing.
On Saturday the 11th, in a strong gale from S. W. we lost sight of the Essex, at 6 P. M. We shortly after laid to, and burnt several false fires by way of signals, but they were not answered. In this situation we remained till morning, the gale still increasing.

"At half past 6 on Sunday morning, the 12th, we found the main mast sprung; Lieutenant Bolworth and five men were sent aloft to cut away the main top mast; but unfortunately, before they had time to execute that duty, the mast went over the side, took with it the mainmast, and broke the foremast yard in three pieces.
Mr. Bolworth fell a victim to the merciless waves, notwithstanding all possible exertions were made to save him—the men were saved, some of whom, as well as many others on board, were wounded by the wreck, of which we had scarcely got clear, when we found the foremast sprung; at half past 12, carried away the fore topmast by the cap—cleared the wreck—at 2 found the bowsprit sprung—at 3 the foremast and bowsprit went off by the fore—now totally dismasted, ship ped several heavy seas, and lost the jolly boat from the stern. We were now in the latitude of 33, 50, N. and long. 52, 14 W. In this deplorable situation we beat at the mercy of the seas, for several days; the weather then moderating, by the 22d we got up a complete lot of jury masts well rigged, and stretched off to the southward, as far as the latitude of 25; we then bore up, and the first land we made was Cape Hatteras, on the 25th instinct—we got into Hampton Roads on the 25th; and from thence brought the ship up here yesterday, where she will probably remain until she is repaired."

The pernicious adherence of the ancient Dominion and her twin sister Kentucky, to certain violent antislavery notions, notwithstanding the unanimous disapprobation manifested by their other sisters, reminds me of the Hibernian Javor, who always dissented from his brethren, and on being asked the reason of the Judge, replied "he always had the luck to be in company with eleven odd fellows."
(Gaz. U. S.)

In the house of Representatives of the United States, February 28, the committee of ways and means made a report.— Agreeably to an estimate furnished by the Secretary of the Treasury, the whole sum required for the public service during the present year amounts to upwards of 15 millions of dollars; but the suspension of enrollments will save one million—and as no appropriation will be necessary this year for the seventy fours, 600,000 dollars more will be deducted from the expenses. The revenue of the United States is about 9 millions of dollars, and considerable balances of appropriations remain unexpended. But the committee judged it necessary to authorize the President to borrow 3,500,000 dollars.— They offered a resolution for that purpose, which was agreed to—Ayes 50.

Mr. Harper, Chairman of the Committee of ways and means, has requested information of the Secretaries of the Treasury, War, and Navy, relative to several subjects which came under the consideration of that committee.—The answer of the Secretary of the Navy is below.

Navy Department, 9th Feb. 1850.
Sir, THE live oak frames for the six 74 gun ships, will cost, delivered at the building places, 300,000 dollars; the other timber will cost 180,000 dollars; the necessary preparations at each yard for building not only these, but ships that may be hereafter authorized, securing the timber by leasing, purchasing sufficient ground for the building yards where the timber can be deposited in order, so as to avoid considerable expense in piling and unpiling, will cost 200,000, making 680,000 dollars.

The greater part of these expenses are already incurred, and the whole must be incurred early in the spring. This amount added to the cost of the six small vessels to be built out of the appropriation of one million of dollars, being 300,000 dollars, will absorb nearly the million of dollars appropriated for these objects. The sums which have been advanced, and must be advanced for copper, will amount to more than the difference, but there may be a saving in the expense of preparing the year.

It is for the wisdom of Congress to determine, whether we shall too here or go on rapidly, in building the six 74 gun ships. In the latter case, 600,000 dollars will be wanted for these ships, in the present year. But if we may safely wait until the timber for the ships is properly leased, they will be infinitely better and more durable by many years than if they are now built with timber cut from the woods only in the present winter, and consequently in a very green state—and if we can wait, this 600,000 dollars will not be wanted for the present year.

If we stop here, we shall always be in a situation to lay the keels, and to proceed with such rapidity in building the ships, as to afford ground to hope that they may be sent to sea, in less than a year from the commencement of the building.
I have the honor to be,
with real respect, Sir, your most obedient servant,
BENJAMIN STODDERT.
Hon. R. G. Harper, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means.

FROM THE FARMER'S MUSEUM.
In the metropolis of a sister state, there is a respectable Lodge of Free Masons, composed of free people of colour. We learn that on the same day that General Washington died, the master of this African Lodge "died also." His name was Hawkins, and he died very much regretted. His place was immediately filled by Mr. Prince Hall, who succeeded to the honours of his late friend and fellow craftsman, Hawkins. On this occasion a member of the society was appointed to write and deliver an eulogy. We have not seen this work, but we learn that the orator "acquitted himself like a man." As his exordium is an example of the sublimely ludicrous, we give it as handed to us by a gentleman lately from B— "Friends and fellow citizens, we have this day lost a Hawkins and a Washington! but thanks be to God, we have still left a Pickering, a Wolcott, and a Hall!

A Gentleman travelling on the road, seeing a man standing at a door, asked if he was master of the house; I don't know he replied, as my wife and I have just quarrelled; but I'll step in and see. He returned and told the gentleman he was master; and pray what is your business?
Only, replied the gentleman, to direct me to the nearest road to the next town.

Anecdotes of Dean Swift, from Mr. P.'s Memoirs
SWIFT with all this piety in his heart could not resist the temptation to indulge the peculiarity of his humour when an opportunity offered, whatever might be the impropriety of time and place.
On the first Wednesday after he had founded his congregation at Laracor, he attended his desk, and having sat some time with no other auditor than his clerk Roger, he rose up, and with a composure and gravity that upon this occasion was irrepressibly ridiculous, began, "Dearly beloved Roger, the scripture moveth you and me in many places," and so proceeded to the end of the service.

The peculiarity of his temper was as great as his propensity to ridicule. The first time I ever dined at his house, he placed himself at the head of his table opposite to a great Pier-Glass, under which was a marble side-board, so that he could see in the glass whatever the servants did at it: he was served entirely in plate, and with great elegance; but the beef being over roasted, put us all in confusion, the Dean called for the cook maid, and ordered her to take it down stairs and do it less; the maid answered, very innocently, "that she could not."
"Why, what sort of a creature are you, (said he) to commit a fault that cannot be amended?" And turning to me said very gravely, "that he hoped, as the cook was a woman of genius, he should by this manner of arguing, be able in about a years time to convince her the next better send up the meat too little than too much done; charging the men servants, "whenever they imagined the meat was ready, they should take the spit and all, and bring it up by force, promising to aid them, in case the cook resisted."

The Dean then turning his eyes on the looking glass, espied the butler opening a bottle of ale, and holding himself to the first glass; he very kindly jumbled the rest together, that his master and guests might all fare alike. "Hal friend, says the Dean, snip's the word, I find you drink my ale, for which I stop two thill-ings of your board wages this week, for I learn to be outdone in any thing, even in cheating." Dinner at last was over to my great joy; for now I had hope of a more agreeable entertainment than what the squabbling with the servants had afforded us.

This freedom of the Dean's behaviour was not confined to those below him. He really was sometimes very rude, even to his superiors, of which the following story, related to me by himself, may serve as one instance among a thousand others.
The last time he was in London, he went to dine with the Earl of Burlington, who was then but lately married. My Lord being willing, I suppose, to have some diversion, did not introduce him to his lady, nor mention his name: 'Tis to be observed, his gown was generally very rusty, and his person no way extraordinary. After dinner, said the Dean, 'Lady Burlington, I hear you can sing; sing me a song.' The lady looked on this unceremonious manner of asking a favour with distaste, and positively refused him. He said the should sing, or he would make her. "Why, madam, I suppose you take me for one of your poor paupers, and as such, I shall sing; sing, when I bid you." As the earl did nothing but laugh at this freedom, the lady was so vexed that she burst into tears and retired.

His first compliment to her, when he saw her again, was, "pray, madam, are you as proud and as ill-natured now, as when I saw you last?" To which she answered with great good humour, "no Mr. Dean; I'll sing for you if you please." From which time he conceived great esteem for her. But who that knew him would take offence at his bluntness? It seem: Queen Caroline did not, if we may credit his own lines, wherein he declares, that he With Prince kept a due decorum, But never stood in awe before 'em;
And to the present Queen, God bless her,
Would speak as free as to her dresser;
She thought it his peculiar whim, Nor took it ill—as come from him.

Jeffery, as he obtained a certificate from a Negro who was emancipated by — Mayo,

I am told the certificate is on parchment, but am not certain. The above reward will be given for its delivery to me, or Twenty Dol-formation duly given me of it.

YOUNG LADIES.

If the Spring put forth no blossoms, in Summer there will be no Beauty, and in Autumn no Fruit; so, if Youth be trifled away without improvement, riper Years may be contemptible, and old age miserable.

AN ACADEMY FOR YOUNG LADIES will be opened on Monday the 13th current, by Mr. WILLIAM BLACK, who received his education at the Universities of Glasgow and Edinburgh, and who has been Preceptor of the Gloucester Academy in Massachusetts ever since its commencement.

Young Ladies will be taught the following Branches on the most reasonable terms:

Reading, Letter Writing, Writing, Geography and the Arithmetic, Use of the Globes, English Grammar, French, Composition and English Grammar will be taught on the new approved plan of the celebrated Lindley Murray, whose Grammar and Exercise will be used as Class Books. All the other Class Books will also be new, but not expensive.

The hours of teaching will be from 9 to 12 in the forenoon, and from 3 to 5 in the afternoon.

Ample certificates of the moral character and literary ability of the Teacher, are left with the Messrs. Ramsays, King-Street.

Happy the Child, whose green unpractised years

The guiding hand of parent fondness rears To rich instruction's ample field removes, Purges every fault, and every worth improves.
Hence the fair form, by noble views refined, Shines the bright Mirror of the faultless mind.
With Pity's dew the eye of radiance flows, With Learning's gem the breast of beauty glows.

The damask cheeks with kind affections glow And the Modest's whiteness lights the skin of snow.

Commission, Ship Broker
Conveyancer's Office,
In the Brick House, near the Bank, opposite Printing-Office of Mr. Price.

FROM a view of the new Navigation and Revenue Laws of the United States, I have been encouraged to open the above Office, from a belief that the said laws require more attention than persons in general concerned in trade and navigation will find convenient to pay them, in order to avoid incurring the penalties inflicted for not complying with the requisitions thereof. Where ever any form and instrument of writing appertaining to Shipping, entry, clearance, imports, exports, excise, drawbacks and duties, required by the laws of the United States and the officers of the government may be had. I have also taken such steps as will, in a short time, insure me accurate information respecting the restrictions on our trade in foreign countries, and particularly at such foreign port or place where an American consul or agent may reside, with the formalities necessary to be observed, and the fees, duties, &c. payable thereat.

VINCENT GRAY.
Alexandria, February 25, 1800.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY yesterday morning, a Mulatto Man, named EDWARD, who formerly belonged to Mr. J. Ambler, of the City of Richmond, and was told by Mr. Ambler in May, 1796, to Mr. William Radford, the September following Mr. Radford sold him to Major P. B. Oram. Edward rode with Major Oram, as his servant, through several of the States. In Philadelphia, July 1797, he was sold by Major Oram to Mr. William Galtell, of Frederickburg, of whom I purchased him.
Edward is a light Mulatto, with grey eyes, about twenty two or three years of age, is a good Barber, Hairdresser and Tailor; took with him a variety of clothing; amongst which were a suit of superfine blue cloth, with buffskin breeches, quite new, a short blue waistcoat and breeches, also new, a swan-down under waistcoat, a pair of half-boots, with slip tops. He is an artful fellow, and probably has procured a pass, and will endeavour to pass as a free man. I will give the above reward on bringing brought home, or Thirty Dollars, if found in any goal so that I get him again.

Contracts for Potomak Na- vigation.

AT the Great Falls of Potomak, there are five Locks to be inserted. The feat for one of these locks is already excavated. The pits of the other four are still to be excavated.
The President and Directors are anxious to contract for the completion of the said locks, and they will contract separately for the execution of the Lock Pits, or any of them, or any other part of the work.

This work is well worth the attention of those persons who are accustomed to undertakings of this nature, as it is of considerable magnitude. There will be about 4300 cubic yard-of stone to remove in the excavation, and the President and Directors are disposed to grant liberal terms to those that will prosecute it with spirit and to a speedy completion. The funds for the payment are not contingent, but already in their hands.

Any person disposed to engage in this work will make application to the subscriber as soon as possible, as the season for commencing the operations is fast approaching. He has in his possession the plan of the work to be done, and can give every information as to the mode of execution.
